Knowland Joins Fight Against Limiting Trade

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. William F. Knowland (R-Calif.) announced today he is joining the administration's fight against a move to restrict presidential tariff powers.

Knowland, the Senate Republican leader, said in an interview he will oppose a proposal to give Congress final say over whether the president may reject Tariff Commission recommendations for higher tariffs or import quotas to protect domestic industries claiming injury from imports. The president now has discretionary authority to accept or reject such recommendations.

The Senate Finance Committee wrote the restrictive amendment, sponsored by Sen. Robert S. Kerr (D-Okla.), into a bill to extend the Reciprocal Trade Agreements law for three more years. This 24-year-old law gives the president authority to negotiate mutual trade concessions with other nations.

Knowland's announcement apparently closed administration plans on a proposal which Secretary of Commerce Weeks said completely emasculated the bill. Previously, Knowland had opposed the administration's request for a five-year extension of the trade program, as voted by the House.

Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, Senate Democratic leader, already has expressed himself as opposed to the Kerr amendment. He has pledged efforts to strike it from the bill.

Sen. George A. Smathers (D-Fla.), who cast the deciding ballot when the committee voted 8-7 to put the amendment in the bill, said in a separate interview he thinks the Senate will scuttle the provision.

Sen. Edward Martin (R-Pa.), who canvassed the situation with Knowland and other Republican leaders at an unannounced meeting Friday, said he expects the three-year extension voted by the finance committee to be accepted by the Senate without a fight.

Bennett Gets More Time in NAACP Case

LITTLE ROCK (AP) Atty. Gen. Bruce Bennett yesterday received additional time for taking depositions from eight witnesses in two suits against the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Pulaski Circuit Judge William J. Kirby allowed Bennett until Aug. 11.

The attorney general made the request because Thurgood Marshall of New York, director-counsel of the NAACP, won an extension earlier this week on the length of time allotted him to file answers to a set of interrogatories Bennett had mailed him.

Bennett said he wanted to take the depositions of the eight witnesses after Marshall filed his replies to the interrogatories. Kirby has given the NAACP official until Aug. 7 to answer the queries about activities of the Negro organization in Arkansas.

One of Bennett's suits seeks to keep NAACP's Legal Defense and Educational Fund, Inc. from allegedly practicing law in this state. The other action seeks a $5,000 penalty for alleged failure of the fund to register to do business in Arkansas.

The eight witnesses, previously subpoenaed by Bennett to give depositions, later this month, are Mrs. L. C. Bates of Little Rock, Arkansas president of the NAACP; Mrs. Birdie Williams of North Little Rock, president of the NAACP chapter in that city; Wiley Brantley of Pine Bluff, attorney for the NAACP; Gwendolyn Floyd of Little Rock, principal of Booker T. Washington School; Teresa Vanden of Bunkley, A. teacher at Marian Anderson High School; Thad. Williams of Little Rock, Negro attorney who has represented the fund; D. L. Grace of Fort Smith, an attorney in a Van Buren school integration case; and Rev. H. Pitts of De Witt.

Cattle Herd and Cars Get Mixed

SADDLE RIVER, N. J. (AP) The law got a call that 18 short-horn steers had departed the Pruksma farm and were cluttering up the four lanes of Route 17, an old motorists' trail into New York City.

The bellowing cattle were bailing up traffic.

State police at Ramsey called for help from nearby police.

The cowboy cops cut the steers out of the herd of cars and corralled them by the side of the road.

Tokyo Rose Will Not Be Deported

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) Efforts to deport Mrs. Iva Toguri D'Aquino, known to GIs as Tokyo Rose for her propaganda efforts over the Japanese radio during World War II, have been dropped.

District Immigration Director Bruce Barber said Thursday the federal government canceled the warrant for Mrs. D'Aquino's arrest for deportation because of a U. S. Supreme Court decision.

The court held the citizenship of a soldier who deserted in Germany could not be canceled after he returned to U. S. territory.

Mrs. D'Aquino, now 42, was graduated from the University of California at Los Angeles. She was in Japan visiting relatives when World War II broke out.

After the war she was arrested in Japan and convicted of treason at a trial in San Francisco. She served 6 years and 2 months of a 10-year sentence before being paroled in 1956.

Eisenhower Flies Back From Ottawa

OTTAWA (AP) President Eisenhower wings back to Washington today from an air-clearing Canadian-American summit conference that produced a trio of concrete decisions.

In three days of informal, card-on-the-table talks, the President and Prime Minister John G. Diefenbaker agreed that:

(1) A joint cabinet committee on continental defense will be created; (2) the two governments will work on plans for safeguards against surprise attacks across the border; (3) consultations will be held on lower levels to try to dissolve differences over trade with Communist China.

While time will test the practical value of these agreements, White House press secretary James C. Hagerty pronounced them important and good steps toward.

Hagerty said the closer personal relationship, established between the two heads of government, "is very good for both our countries."

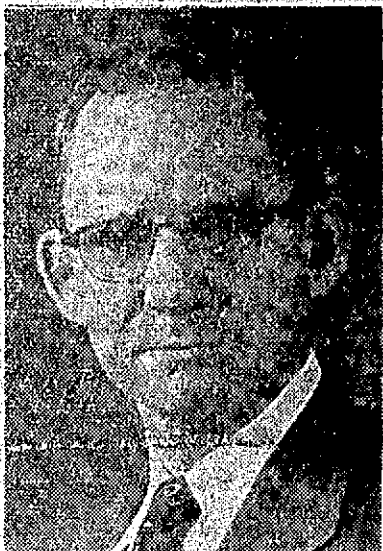

Eisenhower, he said, "believes very much that this was a very worthwhile meeting."

Diefenbaker told the House of Commons a spirit of consideration had been shown for each other's problems that bodes well for the future.

Eisenhower's visit came at a time when relations between the two countries have been marred by increasing Canadian complaints about various U. S. programs and policies.

Eisenhower was no friend of the United Nations, but he was a friend of the United States.

National TV 'Time' Sales Are Slow

NEW YORK (AP) The business recession has made television sponsors more choosy about snatching up fall evening programs and the networks have millions of dollars of choice time unsold, the Wall Street Journal said today.

Of the hours from 7:30 to 10:30 p.m. Eastern Standard Time, for which the networks get the highest price, NBC has five hours a week unsold, CBS about three and ABC eight, the financial paper said.

Many big advertisers plan to spend as much as ever on TV advertising but are just being slow in picking the shows they want to sponsor, the Journal found in a survey.

Thieves Took His Cattle, Also Dog

LITTLE ROCK (AP) Horace Hines told police that not only did thieves make off with his entire herd of Hereford cattle overnight but they also stole the shepherd dog.

Hines said about 100 head of cattle had been enclosed in a fence at his home near here.

When he awoke yesterday morning, he found the herd had vanished, Hines told officers.

Hoegh Confirmed in Defense Job

Until July 1, Hoegh headed the separate Office of Civilian Defense which then was merged with the Office of Defense Mobilization.

Tony Accardo Takes 5th to Dodge Probe

WASHINGTON (AP) Chicago gangster Tony Accardo sought refuge behind the Fifth Amendment at the Senate rackets hearings today, and lost an appeal to prevent the televising of his appearance.

The reputed baron of rackets and vice in Chicago's underworld pleaded it might incriminate him to answer any question about his business or occupation. He argued unsuccessfully that telecasting his testimony would invade his privacy.

The hearings are being televised live in Chicago.

The carefully tailored Accardo strode to the witness stand after his alleged West Side Chicago top henchman, Sam Battaglia, had refused to tell whether he served as executioner for the Capone gang.

Battaglia, a black-eyed, slim, graying man, refused to answer when asked whether he had helped to bludgeon and burn to death Estelle Carey in 1943.

Battaglia also refused to say whether he had any part in a conspiracy to kill Abraham Teitelbaum, one-time lawyer to gangster Al Capone.

Accardo's unsuccessful attempt to block the televising of his testimony was made through his lawyer, H. Clifford Alder of Washington, who argued:

"He is neither an entertainer, an athlete nor a political figure. He is a private citizen whose rights of privacy should not be invaded. He is only here because of subpoena and is not here to appear on a television show."

A Chicago court denied Accardo a preliminary injunction to prevent the televising of his appearance by Station WKBK, Channel 7 in Chicago. But Alder argued that unless the injunction suit is completed with a decision against Accardo his rights of privacy should not be violated.

Accardo was called after Committee Chairman John L. McClellan (D-Ark) said the FBI is investigating alleged gangster intimidation of witnesses in the committee's inquiry into underworld infiltration of labor and management.

McClellan said the FBI is looking into two alleged intimidation cases in Detroit and another in Chicago but gave no details.

The committee wants to learn from Accardo whether he had a hand in a plot to murder Teitelbaum.

Teitelbaum, one-time lawyer to gangster Al Capone, testified Thursday to police testimony describing the alleged 1934 conspiracy to slay him from his 10th floor office in the Chicago Fine Arts Building.

He had just invoked the Fifth Amendment many times, refusing to answer questions about this or any other matter on grounds he might incriminate himself.

The Senate Rackets Committee previously had heard testimony linking Teitelbaum and Accardo, reputed overlord of vice and rackets in Chicago, with an alleged protection racket in the rich Chicago restaurant industry.

Chicago Detective Lt. Joseph Morris swore Thursday he had learned of a plot in which gangsters Louis (Neddy) LaBriola and James Weinberg were to kill Teitelbaum and try to make it appear as suicide.

The lieutenant said his superior sent him to warn Teitelbaum, adding: "When I told him, he was really upset about it. Mr. Teitelbaum fully believed they intended to kill him."

Morris said the circumstances indicated Accardo might have been the authority behind those planning the execution. He said LaBriola and Weinberg later were found slain by poison, their bodies in the trunk of an automobile.

Peace Feeler Is Extended to Goldfine

By LEWIS GULICK

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. John Bell Williams (D-Miss) tendered a peace feeler to Bernard Goldfine today. He indicated a contempt citation may not be voted for some time — if at all.

"We are not anxious to cite him," said Williams, a senior Democrat on a House subcommittee investigating relations between Boston millionaire Goldfine and Sherman Adams, President Eisenhower's chief aide.

Williams said "we are much more anxious to get the information" about some of Goldfine's finances — information which Goldfine has refused to give so far on grounds it is not relevant to the inquiry.

"There would be no need to cite him if we get the information," Williams said.

The Mississippi congressman said that although groundwork has been laid for a vote to cite Goldfine for contempt of Congress, the subcommittee is not likely to act for a while. He said the subcommittee wants to complete the record first.

Williams spoke in an interview as Goldfine was given a long week end to ponder his troubles with the subcommittee and plan strategy for his scheduled reappearance on the witness stand Tuesday.

Goldfine said he would think over a subcommittee plea that he answer more questions. But he gave no sign of yielding as he and his wife prepared to fly home today.

The House inquiry into Goldfine's relations with his friend Adams and with federal regulatory agencies hit a climax Friday when the Boston industrialist refused to answer 23 questions specially drawn up under threat of contempt if he didn't answer.

The questions took the time that Goldfine milked a company he controlled, but did not completely own, of $104,973 in easy loans in 1945-48.

Goldfine talked freely about gifts to high federal officials. But he said his financial transactions were none of the subcommittee's business because (1) they didn't deal with regulatory agencies, the stated target of the House probe, (2) they were private business affairs, and (3) they were in litigation.

New Dangers Discovered in Space Flight

LOS ANGELES (AP) Unexpected problems disclosed by the U. S. Explorer satellites have put new difficulties in the way of manned space flight, says a space scientist.

Chief problem, Dr. J. E. Froelich told the Institute of Aeronautical Sciences Thursday, is the intense radiation encountered in the satellites' range of from 600 to 1,700 miles above the earth.

Instruments in the two Explorer satellites have measured radiation far in excess of what scientists planned on, said Froelich, one of the designers of the satellites. Source of the radiation is not known, he said.

He said the heavy radiation would endanger human travelers in space. Providing shields to protect passengers would increase the weight of space vehicles and thereby add to the problem of getting them into space, he added.

Dr. Froelich said the satellites have also disclosed that tiny meteorites abound in outer space. The first Explorer had 38 collisions with meteorites in 13 days, he said, but all were harmless.

He said the satellites have produced much significant knowledge about outer space, but warned: "Man has taken but a little step toward his objective to emigrate from the planet earth."

We have encountered problems we have not expected and physical phenomena we do not understand. Progress will now be slower than we like."

Billboard Code to Be Disclosed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Commerce Weeks said today proposed national standards for regulating billboards along the 41,000-mile interstate superhighway system will be made public very soon.

Weeks said in a statement that the standards will be published in the Federal Register and any interested party will have a chance to submit views in writing before they are adopted.

With Today's Emphasis on Water Sports Boatmen Need to Exercise Greatest Care

By MARY ANITA LASETER

The many beautiful lakes, rivers, and streams in our part of the country are attractive to sportsmen all the year but especially at this season.

With more and more people using these bodies of water for pleasure, laws have been made, precautions are urged, and courtesy is expected in the operation of vehicles on the water.

"Courtesy is Contagious," declares a pamphlet on safety rules, regulations, and state laws pertaining to boat operations, issued by the Pike County Sheriff's Office.

"That slogan can be applied to any situation, but it is especially important in reference to safety. In piloting a boat of any kind, keep to the right of approaching traffic and yield the right of way to smaller craft. Also, avoid passing within at least 50 yards."

Simple rules, you say? To be sure, but also very necessary ones. The same is true of requests for no shooting on the lakes except during the legal shooting season.

More and more people are enjoying the fascinating sport of water skiing these days. Boat operators pulling skis should always be alert and observe the traffic ahead. If the boat has a sudden increase in speed, the skier has probably taken a spill.

Return to the person downed in water immediately so as to render protection from incoming craft. If you do so, you might save a life, so be alert!

One of the earliest sources of food, means of occupation, or forms of recreation is fishing. It is still a favorite for all three purposes, and those who take to the water for other activities should always remember the fishermen.

Water skiing and pleasure boating should be confined to the larger areas of the lake, leaving the fishing waters to both local and visiting anglers. If this practice is not followed, recreation can be ruined and lives can be lost.

As far as the actual operation of your boat is concerned, be sure to know your boat's limitations, don't overload it, and balance your load. Use the right motor, for too much power can damage your boat.

If waves are high, head your boat at an angle toward them at slow speeds. As any sailor, good or bad, knows — watch the weather and head for shore before a storm breaks. Avoid sharp turns for they are hard on equipment — and sometimes on people.

Some people may feel that it is hard on them, too, to follow such rules, observe such regulations, and obey such laws. They are usually the ones who need them most.

Their purpose is to protect. Not to punish. So, follow them, observe them, and obey them.

And never forget: Courtesy is Contagious.

To Throw Out Bee Colony — Maybe

City officials decided the bees would have to be ejected because the more aggressive ones began stinging passersby.

A Negro beekeeper will lure the bees away from a natural hive between two floors by using "lure" laves.

Underworld Milking Labor, Management

WASHINGTON (AP)—Robert F. Kennedy, counsel to the Senate Rackets Committee, said today the underworld is milking at least a billion dollars a year out of labor-management rackets.

He said this will be borne out as the committee gets deeper into its investigation of alleged gangster infiltration of both labor unions and business enterprises from coast to coast.

"It may prove to be a conservative figure," Kennedy told reporters. He declined to give now a breakdown of the take by such rackets in any particular area.

The committee plans to resume Tuesday public hearings on the rackets infested Chicago restaurant industry. Later hearings will deal with rackets in Detroit, New York, Pennsylvania's garment industry, Miami, Los Angeles, and various other places.

Chicago gangster Tony Accardo and three of his alleged lieutenants repeatedly invoked the Fifth Amendment Friday, refusing to answer any questions about alleged extortion conspiracies.

They refused to say whether they have been shaking down Chicago restaurant owners by selling them protection from trouble with racketeer bossed labor unions.

Jose di Vero, Jack Cerone, and Ross Prio refused among other things to tell whether they know anything about the May 13 raid by masked gunmen on Alligauer's Fireside Restaurant.

The gunmen held employees at gunpoint and put the place to the torch, causing an estimated $750,000 damage, two days after committee investigators had interviewed its owner, Gus Alligauer.

Treasurer of Carroll Co. Is Indicted

BERRYVILLE, Ark. (AP) The Carroll County Grand Jury wound up a 2-day investigation yesterday by indicting county treasurer Edward L. Champlin on charges of embezzling $20,000 in public funds.

Champlin was released on $10,000 bond after arraignment before Circuit Judge Maupin Cummins. The treasurer pleaded innocent and asked for a speedy trial.

The grand jury, which began its investigation Wednesday morning, indicted Champlin on three counts. The indictment charged him with embezzling $7,012.27 in 1956, $8,304.83 in 1957, and $5,322.25 up to June 23 this year.

Investigation was ordered following an audit of Champlin's office by the state comptroller's county audit division. The grand jury said it obtained the figures in the indictment from the audit.

Champlin, unopposed for a fourth term, said at his arraignment he wanted a speedy trial because "politics play a big part in this."

Champlin earlier had circulated leaflets offering rewards for information about persons he said were spreading "slandorous rumors" about him.

Alaska to Vote Before August 1

Recluse Who Killed Two Is Captured

By BILL RICHARDSON

REGINA, N.M. (AP) — New Mexico State Police today wounded and captured a bearded recluse who Thursday slew two children.

Police identified the captured man as Nelson A. Foote, 47. They said he once spent six months in an Idaho mental hospital.

Six officers, led by Sgt. Milton Maltress of Santa Fe, closed in on the hermit's camp at dawn. "I told him to come out and throw down his gun," Maltress said. "He came out in the road with his hands up, but with the rifle still in his hand."

"I told him again to throw down the gun, and fired a warning shot into the bank. He didn't, and one of the officers shot him in the foot."

Regina is a tiny hamlet in the mountains of Sandoval County, about 100 miles north of Albuquerque.

About 100 men surrounded the camp where Foote Thursday night shot and wounded Sam Hill, one of the posse members.

The man had shot and killed two children on the streets of Cuba, N. M., and wounded the mother of one of them.

The bald, bearded Foote chatted calmly with four sweating officers who were carrying him down the mountainside.

"What were all you fellows doing out there?" Foote asked. "We were looking for you."

"I didn't know what was going on," Foote said. "I wondered what all you fellows were doing out there."

"How does it feel to be shot?" an officer asked. "It hurts," Foote said. "Well," the officer said, "there is two people that don't hurt any more."

Foote had been prospecting for uranium in the area for about six months.

The slayer left his camp about noon Thursday and drove to the mountain town of Cuba, a farming village of less than 500, about 75 miles northwest of Albuquerque.

Driving up in front of a grocery store, he stopped and leveled his deer rifle across the car window.

"I thought he was just bringing his rifle in to pawn it," said Vernon, clerk in the grocery store. "Then he fired. I ran out and the little girl was laying there. Then he shot a little boy and drove off as if he weren't in to much of a hurry."

The dead girl was Maria Cebedia, 12. The soft-nosed 20-06 slug passed through her back and raked a flesh wound across the stomach of her mother Mrs. Sofian Cebedia, Eddie Cebedia, 13, nephew of the slain girl, was sitting 45 feet away on the porch of his family's store. The second bullet struck him in the right hip and severed an artery. He was dead on arrival at an Albuquerque hospital.

Chapman, the stonemason, reached over the electric stove and into a box of kitchen matches. He struck a light against the sole of his shoe and puffed his pipe glow before calmly answering Inspector Winters.

"How many times do I have to repeat myself? Mrs. Johnson telephoned yesterday and asked me to repair the rear wheel. I got here 15 minutes ago and found the back door unlocked."

"Nobody answered the bell, so I let myself in," he went on. "She was lying there, strangled. I called the police right away. Is it my fault nobody saw me enter?"

"Mrs. Johnson's been dead about two hours, Inspector," interrupted the coroner. "Will you want me any more?"

"Thanks, no, doc," replied the inspector. "To the stonemason he said, 'I'm going to have a look at the back door. Will you mind?'"

"Why else would I be here?" was the reply.

The inspector stepped from the small house in which the murdered woman an attractive divorcee, had dwelt alone. He followed the walk from the back door around to the driveway, examining the muddy ground on either side for footprints. There were none.

The heavy rains of the previous night had stopped six hours earlier yet the walk was still inundated.

"Whoever laid it originally was a rotten workman," the inspector told Haledjian that evening. "The cement was cracked and the flagstones had sunk two inches below ground level. No wonder Mrs. Johnson called someone to repair it."

"You arrested Chapman, I asked Haledjian."

"As soon as I got back into Sobol."

Rotarians See Motion Picture of Local Sportsman and Dogs in Action

Vice-President John Thomas McRae presided in the absence of President Thel Hanning who is on vacation in the Ozarks. The meeting was called to order at the noon hour at the Lawson Hotel.

Ernest Hesterly had the program and showed two movie films taken of two local sportsmen and their dogs in action in the field.

The sportsmen were H. H. McKenzie and Odell Garrett and their bird dogs. It showed the pointers frozen in their tracks and the setters motionless at their spot.

The picture showed the sedge grass in the briar patches in the wooded section and in the open field. It showed the flush of the birds, the deadly aim of McKenzie and Garrett, the retrieve of the game to the hunter. The picture covered the action from the time the sportsmen arrived at the fields, the hunt, return to their car dragging their feet and loading the dogs for the return trip home.

The picture was something different and very interesting to all who like to see sportsmanship in action.

Adolph Whitaker of Pine Bluff, Ark., was a visiting Rotarian. Mr. H. H. McKenzie had as his guest Brad Dewdney.

Paul Robeson Is Welcomed by London

LONDON (AP)—U. S. singer Paul Robeson got a warm welcome in Britain today on his first trip out of the United States after being eight years without an American passport.

The 60-year-old Negro was greeted by a cheering mob upon his arrival at the airport with his wife.

"This is a great international event," he was told by Viscount Stansgate, 81-year-old Laborite peer.

Robeson entertained with snatches of "Water Boy" and "Swing Low, Sweet Chariot" as television and newsreel cameras rolled.

He had been unable to leave the United States since the government withdrew his passport in 1950 because he declined to sign a non-Communist affidavit required by the State Department. This requirement was knocked out by a recent Supreme Court decision.

Robeson's first engagement in Britain is a concert for which he will receive 1,000 pounds—$2,800. He plans to accept other engagements in Europe.

British historian Edward Gibbon completed his "Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire" in 1787.

Thomas Jefferson was the first custodian of the Great Seal of the United States.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)—A 300-pound royal Bengal tiger leaves by plane today to meet a new mate at the Baltimore Zoo. The tiger, on loan from the Ringling Bros. and Barnum Bailey Circus, will join Duchess, whose previous mate died recently of a heart attack.

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Los Angeles is in the clutches of a heat-and-smog attack. The 93 degrees recorded in the city Thursday made it the hottest July 10 in Los Angeles in 74 years. But it was much hotter in many suburbs — 104 in Van Nuys—and it was 120 at Palm Springs, on the desert.

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—With temperatures ranging up to 110 this week, an Arizona Republic editorial today advised: "Don't talk about it. That just stirs up more hot air from the people who want to tell you how much hotter it was the last time it was 'really' hot."

DETROIT (AP)—Frank Marlinko, 19, president of the Roman Road Club, a teen-age safe driving group, has lost his license for a year and been fined $50 for speeding to a club meeting. The club meets in the basement of a police station.

EL DORADO, Ark. (AP)—Ted Cameron, president of Cameron Feed Mills of Little Rock, announced plans yesterday to construct a $300,000 mill here. Cameron said it would produce poultry feed primarily. He did not reveal when construction would begin nor how many workers the mill would employ.

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The State Hospital said yesterday 12-year-old Joe Grabner, who stabbed his piano teacher to death here last May 15, was without psychosis. The mental institution issued its report after examining young Grabner, who told police he stabbed Mrs. Kirke Killian because she struck him when he didn't perform his music lesson properly.

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Mrs. L. C. Bates, president of the Arkansas branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, yesterday said a delay in school integration at Little Rock would be an invitation to violence. She is here for the NAACP's annual convention.

PANAMA (AP)—University students, who openly oppose Panama's President Ernesto de la Guardia Jr., have asked for a meeting with Milton Eisenhower during the four-day visit he begins Saturday.

The Panama University Students' Union said Eisenhower's visit offered an opportunity to present demands for "clear, definite sovereignty" for Panama in the Panama Canal Zone, which is under U. S. jurisdiction.

Eisenhower, the president of Johns Hopkins University in Baltimore, will begin a Central American tour here.

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP)—Alojzije Cardinal Stojanovic is making excellent progress after an operation to relieve a blood clot in his right leg, his doctor said today.

But Dr. Branislav Bogicevic added that the 60-year-old cardinal's general state of health still was uncertain. The spiritual leader of Yugoslavia's seven million Roman Catholics has been suffering for some years from polycythemia, a blood disease caused by an excess of red corpuscles.

TOKYO (AP)—The 500 American sailors and airmen on two Japanese ships today for winds up to 50 m.p.h. as Typhoon Viola swirled north in the Pacific.

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP)—Two bombs exploded in central Nicosia today after six persons were killed in violence between Greek and Turkish Cypriots over this British island's future.

Five Greeks were killed Thursday and a Turk died of bomb injuries. One person was slightly injured today by the bombs, which went off near the barbed wire barrier.

DOROTHY DIX

Woman Lonesome for Children Bored With Hot Dog Stand

Dear Dorothy Dix: I'm a widow with three children. Four years ago I became disgusted with conditions in the city and decided to light out for the wide open spaces. A friend of mine was opening a shack bar on a busy highway and I went into partnership with her. The move was successful as far as the children were concerned. Now they are all married or in college. And here am I at the hot dog stand; working 14 hours a day, seven days a week. My health isn't too good, although the doctor says there's nothing the matter with me but nerves. I hate to let my partner down by leaving her, as we still owe quite a sum of money. I don't even see my children much because their interests are in different parts of the country. One girl is counseling this summer at a New England camp, another is acting as guide to a tourist group, and the married one lives quite a distance away. If they do come home, I'm too busy to visit with them. What should I consider — my health and happiness, or my responsibility to my partner? — Anne V.

Dear Anne: At the moment your chief trouble is loneliness for your children — a very natural feeling. Your chicks have left the nest and you are suffering from a letdown. The best antidote is work, and that you have right at hand. The work is hard, but rewarding. You're coming into the busy tourist season, you'll meet all sorts of people — as you know — you won't have a moment to be bored. Stay with your partner, for your own sake as well as hers. When the rush is over, take a vacation. Visit your married daughter, get acquainted with your grandchildren and come back eager and ready for more work. I'd like to stop for a hot dog myself.

Dear Dorothy Dix: John is my steady and I love him dearly. However, when Bruce called and asked for a date, I couldn't say "no." I didn't tell John I was going out with someone else. Of course, he found out and immediately broke off with me. Bruce wants to go steady with me but I don't like him, as much as I do John. How can I straighten this mess out? — Thea

Dear Thea: There are three parts to the solution of your problem. First, talk to John, tell him exactly why you went out with Bruce. Second, apologize for being so untrustworthy; and third, promise not to do it again. Confession, repentance and atonement, they'll do it.

Dear Dorothy Dix: My parents were divorced 10 years ago, when I was four. They are both remarried but I don't live with either of them. I'm in a foster home, under the direction of state welfare. My mother sends me lovely things, but I never see her. All of a sudden she has taken sort of an interest in me, and I wish she hadn't. She seems to have a phobia about late hours and continually calls to see how me of staying out late, or of planning a "late date. The woman who takes care of me is very particular and wouldn't let me out late if I wanted to go to which I do. I think my mother makes these calls when she's intoxicated. — Anne

Dear Anne: I hope your letter wakes up some of my teenage readers who complain because their parents are overprotective. Let your foster mother handle all telephone calls, assuring your mother that you are being guarded and guided. If the calls persist, discuss the problem with the state worker who supervises you.

Dear Dorothy Dix: Seven years ago I was in high school, I was madly in love with Bill. He was endeavoring to divide the Greek and Turkish sectors of this capital.

DARWIN, Australia (AP)—The submerged wreckage of the U.S. destroyer Peary and three troopships, sunk by Japanese bombers in 1942, has been sold to a Japanese salvage company.

Two of the troopships were American, the third Australian. Their superstructures can be seen in the harbor at low tide but the Peary lies in deeper water.

Eighty of the Peary's crew went down with the ship.

There are a great many ways to fish for bass, all of them fun, but the most enjoyable, in the minds of many bass fishermen, is shore-line fishing. Casting a bass lure, particularly a top-water lure, carries with it elements of skill, suspense, surprise and excitement that are lacking in other methods.

The casting itself, no matter what type of tackle is used, is an absorbing pastime, even if the fish are not particularly active. A lure, to be effective, should be cast as close to the shore line as possible. Even a matter of three or four feet can make the difference between raising a fish and not raising one.

Thus, it requires considerable practice and skill for any angler to become a good shore-line caster. Placing a lure accurately at forty or fifty feet is not particularly difficult, but those distances are too close to the fish for best results. Bass — and especially big bass — will not stand crowding. Preferably, casts of from sixty-five feet should be used, and that takes some doing.

Playing the lure effectively, once it has been cast next to the bank, log, bush or weed bed, is every bit as important as casting it properly. Never, never, hurry the retrieve of a short-line cast. If the lure is of the sinking variety, let it sink for two or three feet before starting the retrieve. Then retrieve slowly and, more important, erratically, stopping the lure now and then for added effect.

If you are using a top-water lure, let it sit quietly where it alights until the rings of its splash have spread to a diameter of from six to ten feet. Then bring the lure to life with the rod and line, making it "wink" and move about, but always keeping it as close to the shore as you can.

Some years ago, while fishing Mystery Pond, Vermont, with George Donovan, we noticed that on several occasions the bass would take a stationary, motionless lure. So we tried counting slowing up to thirty before starting the retrieve. Our production rate increased considerably. Sometimes the bass would hit the motionless lure; mostly, however, the strike came when the lure began to move.

The SOLUNAR TABLES can be of help in shore-line fishing, particularly in the choice of lures. As you know, if you are a bass fisherman, sometimes the bass prefer an underwater lure and at other times they want a top-water lure. For some reason — and this applies not only to bass but to all game fish, both in fresh water and salt water — bass like a top-water lure during Solunar Periods. Then it is that they strike with that heartwarming smash which makes you spine tingle and your hair stand on end. Between Solunar Periods, when the bass are not on the prowl in shallow water, the sinking lures usually will take more fish, but during the active Solunar Periods the top-water is best.

Shore-line fishing is just as much fun after dark as it is during the daylight hours. Of course, in some states it is against the law to fish after dark, but such fishing is allowed it is often very productive.

In the dark hours a top-water lure is always my choice. I use a big one, generally one of the popping lures which makes a fuss at the surface. Rarely is the night so dark that you cannot see the splash of your lure as it strikes the water, and the big old take-busters are more apt to be active after dark than they are during the daylight hours.

To sum it all up, cast your lure as close to the bank as you can. Casts of seventy or eighty feet are better, usually, than casts of forty or fifty feet. Top-water lures are better during Solunar Periods.

And, last but not least, don't hurry. Retrieve slowly and give the fish plenty of time to look over your offerings. Haste makes waste when you are shore-line fishing.

Rebels Bombed by Indonesia Planes

AKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — The Indonesian air force reportedly bombed bivouacs in central Sumatra Thursday believed occupied by ministers of the rebel government.

Government forces have been pursuing the remnants of the rebels since their chief Sumatran holdings were overrun in April.

The American flag flies over Sullivan Manor, ancestral home of George Washington, near Banbury, England.

U. S. Aid for Lebanon May Be at Hand

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States is seriously considering 20 to 40 million dollars in emergency aid for revolt-torn Lebanon to help its pro-Western government survive continuing rebel attacks.

At least part of this sum probably will be granted once the Lebanese have provided supporting data requested by the State Department.

Officials said Lebanon appealed for funds for relief projects and for expenses that have piled up during two months of bloody fighting.

Extending such aid would be the third move by the United States to bolster the regime of President Camille Chamoun since fighting broke out May 10. Limited quantities of American weapons and ammunition already are being shipped. About 65,000 tons of emergency wheat shipments were promised two weeks ago.

Confidence mounted among State Department officials that Chamoun's embattled forces would be able to put down the rebellion and keep Lebanon in the pro-Western camp.

Most officials anticipated Chamoun would agree to some kind of compromise bill allowing him to step down in favor of a successor acceptable to pro-Western as well as opposition elements.

Despite the fighting, officials expect Lebanese parliamentary deputies to meet on schedule July 24 to elect a new president who would take office in September.

Can't Sleep After Rescue From Death

ALAMOSA, Colo. (AP) — The terrible ordeal was over, but husky John L. Sanders shook his head at doctors.

Sleep, he said, was the last thing he wanted. He was too keyed up.

Sanders, 35, had been rescued a few hours earlier Wednesday from the tiny ledge on a canyon wall where he had spent five days and nights. During the first 48 hours he slept not at all for fear he would fall 300 feet as his friend and fishing partner had done last Friday.

William E. Carver, 39, auditor for the University of New Mexico, died in the plunge down the face of Conchos Canyon northwest of here. His body was recovered Tuesday.

Sanders, an Albuquerque businessman, clung to his thirty-foot rock shelf, alternately shouting and praying for three days. He was spotted Monday, given his first food Tuesday, rescued by Army mountaineers shortly after noon Wednesday.

They lowered him by litter to the base of the 800-foot rock wall. From there, the 200-pound man walked three miles and rode a horse another mile to a waiting ambulance and his wife Carolyn.

Ohio's Legislature created the state's first department of highways in 1904.

Love at First Sight for Las Vegas & Girls

By BOB THOMAS
AP Motion Picture Writer

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — The Bluebell Girls have captured Las Vegas and vice versa.

The celebrated dancers have been hailed as one of the most popular imports from the British Isles since scotch whisky. Actually, they are from Britain via France, for they are part of the Lido Club, show brought over from Paris to open the new Stardust Hotel.

There are 16 of the Bluebell beauties here (one is Dutch, the rest English). They range in age from 18 to 24 and in height from 5 feet 8 to 5 feet 10. Their other statistics are equally impressive. What's more, they can dance like a desert whirlwind.

This show-wise town, not easily impressed by newcomers, flipped over the Bluebells. The girls have returned the compliment.

"Fabulous!" they say, exercising the usual Las Vegas adjective.

I learned all this from a talk backstage with Miss Bluebell herself, Laura Kelly.

Miss Kelly is a lovely, spoken English lady who looks much too young to have started the Bluebell tradition 23 years ago. That was a childhood name of hers, and she adapted it to her well-disciplined troupe of dancing amazons.

"I have three other companies working now at the Lido, in Morocco and Madrid," she explained. "I pick them tall as a kind of trademark, and they're all skilled in the classic dance. I get them because they're tall for the ballet."

"They all come from good families and I seldom have any discipline problem. If one does get out of line, she is dropped immediately. I have very strict rules, and I don't anticipate any problems here. Unlike the other places in Las Vegas, the Bluebell girls will not be required to mix with the customers."

The Lido show is about the hottest ever to play Las Vegas, but Miss Kelly was careful to point out "Bluebell girls always remain covered on the stage." The other girls from the Paris show mostly English and German do the stripping.

Fight Certain on Reciprocal Trade Limits

By JOE HALL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Eisenhower administration officials today pledged a Senate floor fight to defeat Finance Committee amendments which would restrict the reciprocal trade program.

They apparently could count on help from the Democratic leadership. Senate Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.) said he opposed two of the principal amendments.

Committee Chairman Harry F. Byrd (D-Va.) said he understood the debate might begin by the middle of next week. A bitter battle was in prospect.

The House had passed a five-year extension by the program in substantially the form President Eisenhower asked. But the Senate Finance Committee, in approving the bill Thursday, added a series of amendments which would limit the President's powers in negotiating lower tariffs with other countries.

The administration indicated today it was not too seriously concerned about one of the changes in the extension period from five to three years. A four-year compromise with the House is possible on this. The same amendment cut from 25 to 15 per cent the maximum tariff reduction.

But Commerce and State Department officials took sharp issue with another amendment designed to protect domestic industries which claim damage from imports. In such cases, the Tariff Commission can recommend import duties or higher tariffs under what is called the escape clause, but the President now can reject the recommendations if he sees fit.

Under the Senate amendment, adopted 8-7, he could do so only if both the Senate and House approved by majority vote. The change also would provide that a tie vote of the six-member Tariff Commission should be considered a finding in favor of the industry.

The biggest floor fight promises to center on this amendment. The administration strongly opposed another amendment adopted by the committee which would require that, in negotiating new trade pacts, no tariff could be cut more than 5 per cent in any one year.

Queen Refuses to Be a Pinup Girl

LONDON (AP) — Buckingham Palace has refused an industrial safety organization permission to use Queen Elizabeth II as its pinup girl.

The British Safety Council posters show the queen in white mincer's suit, safety boots and helmet. The posters, which carry the photograph of Elizabeth dressed for a trip into a mine in Scotland last week, would go up in hundreds of pits throughout the world to help make people safety clothing conscious.

What Was Once An Old Caterpillar, hanging on a limb, has suddenly become a Beautiful Butterfly. The cocoon has taken on newness of life.
What a parable! The old wrapping has turned loose, broken away and given up the new, perfect butterfly. A man must give up some old things too, when he decides to follow the Lord. Deciding for God changes ones habits, ones life. One throws off the old and puts on the new and suddenly finds himself happier running errands for Jesus, than when sowing seeds for satan. The transformed individual loves his fellowman... do you? To him the Golden Rule has greater meaning.
"Therefore if any man be in Christ, he is a new creature: Old things are passed away; behold, all things are become new." 2 Cor. 5:17.
